CASH IN PETROGRAD FAILS TO GET FOOD

Many Well Dressed People in Streets Beg to Be Saved
From Starvation.

BUYER LOOKS FOR SELLER

LONDON, June 1 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Physically normal persons no longer are to be found in Petrograd nor in all Russia, says T. Hassen, a well known Moscow Journalist and member of the second duma, who has arrived in Copenhagen, after a long stay in Petrograd. The mental state produced by starvation, disease and nervous strain, he says, forces Russians to lose their mental balance.

Their mental condition so changes their appearance that often one cannot recognize one's nearest friend. I remember the impression I had when I met the well known lawyer, Rajefski. At first I did not recognize him. Soon afterward I learned that he had hanged himself.

"Similar things happen daily. I think it is to be wondered that such suicides do not become general. In all the streets one meets still well dressed people, men and women, begging. There they stand, some of them with their heads down, dumb as if turned to stone; others tirelessly repeating: 'I am dying. Give me something to eat.'

Money Tempts No Seller.

"Even if one has sufficient money to pay the enormous prices one may make acquaintance with starvation," wrote Mr. Hassen to the Copenhagen Politiken. "One has to get hold of a seller and persuade him to sell by treating him to some coffee, giving him the place of honor and so on. Money does not tempt him. He can always get money. He needs it only in order to continue his trade, or to buy luxuries such as sable fur coats, gold ornaments or gems. It is not the seller who looks for a buyer, but just the contrary.

"Not rarely mothers are seen (who have left at home their underfed sick children) pleading with a milk-woman to yield up half a bottle of milk at quite a shameless sum, and it may happen that the milkwoman suddenly becomes capricious and does not even answer the unhappy applicant.

Not Enough Wood for Coffins.

"Add to this the terrible typhus and smallpox epidemics against which there is not the slightest possibility of protection. Remarkably enough, the cholera epidemic that flourished last summer ceased suddenly as if by a whim of nature. But now the typhus and smallpox epidemics are developing more and more seriously. The government has no means to check them. The government cannot even procure wood enough for coffins nor transport to the cemeteries. The survivors must wait days before they can bury the dead.

WAR BLIND AND MAIMED FIND FIELD IN SHIP WORK

Head of Tent Firm Makes Successful Experiment in Foot Rope.
Good Pay Averaged.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—That both the blind as well as the maimed of the great war are fully capable of doing certain necessary work in shipyards, rigging lofts and hangars is the opinion of F. J. Luebert, head of a manufacturing concern, who made the discovery while endeavoring to find sufficient help in order to fill his war contracts with the United States government.

Short of help for preparing foot stops and guy ropes for his tents, which consists in knotting and splicing, it occurred to Mr. Luebert that if the blind were capable of becoming adept at basket weaving, the same principles would apply to making complicated knots and splices. His offer of work to the students of several institutions for the blind was accepted and the result proved a complete success.

For the foot rope, or loop that holds to the tent peg the Matthew Walker knot is used, among the most complicated known to mariners. By patient work, and with the aid of a heavy rope, over which Mr. Luebert could guide the hands of his pupils, the workers were able, at the end of the week, to make the knot as well as their teacher.

"Not only could they do as well as myself, but they could do it a whole lot faster. I paid them $4 a cent each for every foot stop delivered, and they averaged between $4 and $5 a day. Out of several millions of these foot stops delivered there was not a single rejection. I also taught them how guy ropes were spliced and whipped and they became equally expert in this. Under the circumstances I am convinced that these people could be expertly used by the United States Shipping Board in making the rigging for the new merchant marine fleet which we are constructing. There is much work in rigging lofts that they can do as expertly as a sound worker."

ANTI-JAPANESE KOREANS.

Residents in Siberia Are Planning for Further Demonstrations.

TOKIO, May 12 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—A Vladivostok dispatch received in Tokio says the Koreans there and in other districts of Siberia, are secretly planning further demonstrations against Japan. The anti-Japanese Koreans are encouraged by the fact that among various sections of the Japanese, including some newspapers, an adverse criticism is directed against Japan's administration.

The Koreans, says the dispatch, are under the impression that even if they fail to convert Korea into an independent state they will ultimately be successful in causing Japan to alter her military administration so as to increase the happiness of the Koreans.

A. E. F. RIFLEMEN IN SHOOT.

Team to Compete in National Matches at Caldwell, N. J.

Among the competitors at the national matches—the government marksmanship contests to be held on the Navy range at Caldwell, N. J., from August 4 to 25—will be a team of riflemen selected from the American expeditionary forces. Fresh from participation in warfare and in the American expeditionary forces and in the competition at Le Mans, they will represent the actual service riflemen at his best.

The decision of the War Department to authorize the attendance of representatives of the American expeditionary force was in line with a recommendation from Gen. Pershing. A regular team of seventeen members and a number of individual competitors will represent the overseas forces.

TUESDAY STORE NEWS OF LANSBURGH & BRO.

Editorial

Our June Drive for 50,000 new customers went way "over the top." It looks now as though the total would reach 60,000.

We wish we had a large hall, where it would be possible to assemble all the new friends made during the past month, for a jolly good party.

It would be a bringing together of folks from most every corner of the globe.

Our books have received names of people who have come from Africa, Australia, South America, Europe and other foreign climes, as well as from practically every state of the Union.

With 60,000 new friends we've got to hustle some to supply their wants and keep them happy.

All we can say now is "do our best." Keep your eye on our daily ads. They reflect a part of our daily doings.

How to Properly Clean Footwear

During our great four-day sale of white footwear a demonstrator from the Everette & Barron Co. laboratories will be in our Shoe Shop to explain the proper methods for cleaning and renovating white footwear of all materials.

He will also introduce to the Washington public "Swandown White" a powder which will clean very well and has the feature of also impregnating the cloth or leather so that water will not immediately soak in as is usually experienced with other powders.

Instructions will also be given for properly cleaning gold and silver cloth and bronze kidskin footwear.
